

Weight drives both acceleration and fuel economy raw: slower cars get better mpg slope +1.20 mpg per second within weight groups, the effect shrinks

